

Programme to Purpose

Our Charity's Story So Far:

In 2010, we were founded as Speakers for Schools by ITV's Political Editor, Robert Peston, starting a journey which has inspired thousands of young people in state education nationwide. We have facilitated a wide range of exciting talks, from Bill Gates to Alex Scott, from CEOs to adventurers, from comedians to barristers, and everyone in between.

Through our partnerships and activities, we have supported almost 2 million students.

But research from the Institute for Fiscal Studies shows that UK social mobility is the worst it has been in 50 years, which means we need to go much further.

The Problem with Speakers for Schools:

Since 2010, we have been known as Speakers for Schools.

Named after our esteemed programme of inspirational talks from influential professionals.

Today, as we celebrate our fifteenth anniversary, we have grown to become the UK's leading social mobility charity and the largest provider of work experience placements in the country.

While talent is spread evenly nationwide, opportunity isn't. Where you are born and who you are born to are strong predictors of performance at school and future life chances.

Our commitment is clear: we want to increase our support for state schools and colleges to ensure that, by 2028, every young person has access to fully funded, high-quality work experience. In turn, this will enable us to realise our ambition and purpose: to provide fair futures for all young people, improve the rate of social mobility, and secure a balanced distribution of power, wealth, and opportunity in society.

But from our name, you'd never know it.

The Solution: From Programme to Purpose:

How could we better represent the breadth of what we do and our primary purpose?

How could we change our name and at the same time connect with our charity's history?

How could we strategically create continuity and cadence to keep our brand equity?

It's simple. And powerful.

Our new name follows the same convention of "this 'for' that," while employing alliteration to create additional synergy and harnessing the power of words to craft a bold activist statement of purposeful intent.

Our name is our mission. Our mission is our name.

Speakers for Schools becomes Futures For All.

Tate Britain Brand Launch

Our Next Chapter

September 2025

March Launch:

Celebrating 15 years of Speakers for Schools and Announcing Our Next Chapter at Tate Britain

Our exciting new chapter is here! This week, at our 15th Anniversary Celebration inside the prestigious rooms of an iconic London gallery, we shared our bold vision for the future.

After reflecting on 15 years of incredible impact – with our Founder Robert Peston, our Chair of the Board of Trustees Andrew Law, our CEO Nick Brook, and our inspirational panellists – we couldn't wait to talk about the next step: Our future, and the future of all young people we serve.

In September 2025, we will change our name to Futures For All, to better represent the breadth of what we do and our ambition to be the UK's leading social mobility charity – while maintaining our renowned Speakers for Schools programme of free inspirational talks. Our commitment is clear – we want to ramp up our support for state schools and colleges to ensure that, by 2028, every young person has access to fully funded, high-quality work experience.

Talent is everywhere across this country, but opportunity is not.

It's time to put that right.

Futures For All

Brand Identity

A Bold Brand Identity Designed for Impact:

To make Futures For All a reality, our charity has a relentless focus on impact.

It only follows that our brand's visual and verbal identity should do the same.

Our bold, originally drawn and crafted logo type, with its condensed letter forms and letter spacing, is underlined not only to make an impact but to underline our important social purpose.

Our 'underline' device creates a unique asset that expands to contain programme photography and playfully morphs into characterful illustrations, resonating with young people: a super-long tandem takes students on their journey of discovery together; a girl's arm reaches far for her work experience finder; a winged pair of sneakers is flying onto the career ladder.

As you would expect from Futures For All, our brand's typography, aesthetic, and colour combinations are designed to meet AAA or AA 'Accessibility For All.' We strive to create digitally accessible and inclusive communications that are usable and understandable by a diverse range of people, including those with various disabilities and impairments.

And our positioning? True to our name (of course):

We believe in fair and secure Futures For All.

Futures For All

Original Brand Identity

Our logo typography has been drawn and crafted as unique and original condensed letter forms:

The stacked, compact form of our word mark creates a bold and distinctive identity:

Our underline device creates a unique asset which contains photography and turns into characterful illustrations:

We are on a mission.

To drive the change urgently needed for every state-educated young person to gain access to work experience and get the opportunity of a fair future.

In the name of that change, Speakers for Schools are changing too – with a new name from September 2025.

Share your story to inspire Futures For All

Are you ready to share your professional journey, give back to society and inspire the next generation? You're in the right place. By becoming part of our Speakers for Schools programme, you can reach and inspire young people locally and nationally through our network of over 2,700 state schools and colleges.

Why give a talk with Futures for All

01 Fuel ambitions
Sharing your experiences is not only personally rewarding, but it also empowers young people to believe in themselves, challenges their perceptions of what is possible and encourages

02 Uncover careers
You can highlight career pathways and opportunities that may not be on young people's radar. Your talk will offer big-picture insights, practical guidance and resource

03 Inform futures
You will share your personal experiences of overcoming challenges, insights into industries and offer advice to young people. Your talk will encourage young people to ask questions and

Our Youth Council fuels Futures For All

Young people are at the heart of what Futures For All does, and our Youth Council is vital to ensuring that the charity can continue to provide the very best support it can. Each year, a diverse group of 10-18 year-olds from across the UK join us to help us to support young people, including millions of work-educated students today.

We seek representatives from Northern Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and every corner of England. This year, our members are spread far and wide, from the Highlands to the Shetlands, and based on their interests in and passion for the causes that align with our social mobility mission.

Although the opportunities can vary year on year, depending on the focus of our work, interests of the group or individuals and external factors such as it being a general election year, the Youth Council is always open to get involved in several exciting ways.

What our Youth Council do

01 Share their "youth voice"
Charity-wide teams can work together to plan for work and make improvements or updates to our programmes – for example co-creating a new youth-led book club or helping to create a template for Industry Sprints Table.

02 Attend external events
Whether it's attending educational sessions as the festival generation or other public events with industry leaders, MPs, employers and educators – members speak to share their stories and aspirations, and inspire young people and our charity.

03 Gain experience and skills
Our Youth Council members get lots of chances for individual personal development, including experience in a supportive team, developing skills such as communication, developing and getting across to specific training along the way.

Meet our current Youth Council

Our Youth Council is a group of the most diverse people from a diverse range of backgrounds (UK-wide) – who are working hard as we speak to make a real difference.

Here are this year's members:

Our Charity

An intro to futuresforall.org

Futures For All is the UK's leading social mobility charity and the largest provider of work experience. Since 2010, we have supported almost 2 million young people. We understand how hard it can be to imagine your future, let alone access the opportunities you deserve. We believe every young person should have the chance to succeed based on their talent and potential, not their background, location, or family circumstances. That's why we offer all students from state schools and colleges free, free access to our Work Experience and Speakers for Schools programmes.

Our Programmes

Work Experience Programme

We give young people like you the opportunity to access high-quality multi-day placements, as well as short career talks and introductory Insight Days, with 100s of leading employers.

- ✓ Free for state schools and colleges
- ✓ Available for 14-18-year-old students
- ✓ Accessible from anywhere in the UK

Our Partners

Check out some of the signature businesses that have offered work experience with us:

Work Experience Options

How can you get involved?

We offer two types of opportunities you can apply for directly:

- 01 Insight Days
3-hour sessions that introduce businesses, industries, and careers, letting you hear from professionals, experts, and leaders to explore all the possibilities.
- 02 Multi-Day Work Experience
Placements that let you experience the world of work, build your skills, and participate in tours, career talks, projects, activities, presentations, polls, and expert Q&As.

Work Experience Options

How will you access opportunities?

There are 3 ways to get work experience with us, and each is linked to working life in the real world:

- 01 In-person Work Experience
In-person direct work experience takes place on-site at a location or multiple locations chosen by the employer. You'll need to travel to the workplace, which may affect your travel, time, costs, and working hours, so it's important to consider this before applying. In-person placements offer valuable opportunities for diverse experiences, built skills, and personal contact with local businesses right in your area.
- 02 Remote Work Experience
Remote indirect work experience takes place online and can be accessed from anywhere in the UK. Similar to work from home, a different location to the workplace, you'll need to have access to a reliable internet connection, suitable tech, Google Classroom and Google Meet. Remote placements let you explore careers with diverse employers, collaborate with colleagues across locations, and build valuable digital skills.
- 03 Hybrid Work Experience
Hybrid work experience combines both in-person and remote elements. Often called flexible working, the hybrid model lets the employer be as far from the employer and customer in the placement details. It offers the benefits of both remote and face-to-face visibility to your CV.

Our Programmes

Speakers for Schools Programme

You can also access free 1-hour in-school and online talks with high-profile influential professionals to help you imagine what you could be in the future.

- ✓ A network of over 1,000 speakers
- ✓ Available for 11-18-year-old students
- ✓ Builds self-belief and future ambitions

Attending Work Experience

Got a placement? Show up and make it count!

Attendance matters:
Your placement is fully funded and free, so don't miss out. If you can't attend, cancel in advance so another student can benefit.

Plan ahead:
Set aside time for your placement to get the most out of it and avoid last-minute issues.

Remote experience:
For online or hybrid Insight Days and placements, you'll use Google Classroom and Google Meet. Sign-in details will be emailed 1-2 weeks before your start date (check your junk folder). If you haven't received them, email workexperience@futuresforall.org.

Check access early:
Test your login before your placement starts to avoid missing key info at the beginning.

Work Experience Reviews

"I would never have found work experience with Spaceport Cornwall without Futures For All, and I really enjoyed learning about the business. The car design challenge was so exciting."
Yen Li, Trentham

"Working with Spaceport Cornwall has further inspired me to pursue a career in aerospace engineering and allowed me to meet people who do jobs similar to those I want later in life."
Brianna, Birmingham

"In June 2021, I started the first day of my remote work experience with PinTu... Fast forward to June 2023, and I took part in the same work experience programme, however, this time as an employee at PinTu."
Lena, Berlin

Work Experience Finder

Find your organisation's offer placements to kickstart Futures For All!

Our new Work Experience Finder is a user-friendly, web-based tool that helps students discover and apply for meaningful opportunities. It includes placement information to support students in their search for placements, including details on location, duration, and cost.

Each placement includes an overview of the experience, key skills gained, information about the employer, application instructions, and quick answers to common questions.

With 80% of students still leaving school without work experience, we're looking for more organisations to join us in changing that. By listing placements through Futures For All, you can keep your doors and provide real-world insight where it's needed most.

Brand Colours

Default Guide

Our primary colours are black, white and purple.

Orange is intended to be used to differentiate our Speakers For Schools programme.

Futures For All

90% of our digital estate should use our primary colours, with a white backdrop to our pages:

For youth focussed areas, using a purple background is a great way to make our content more appealing for young people. Our secondary and tertiary colours can also be used sparingly throughout the journey.

Speakers for Schools Programme

Our programme of inspirational talks should use orange within the primary colour set:

Please note: Orange should not be used for text on a white background, as this doesn't achieve AAA accessibility.

Brand Typefaces

Primary

Through our typeface treatments we're striving for Accessibility For All by enhancing legibility and readability.

Typeface Choice

Research shows that our humanist typeface, Atten New, is generally more legible at smaller sizes than a grotesque typeface. It has unique letter shapes to avoid exact mirroring which helps with their identification, and its numbers are distinguishable from similar letter shapes:

dbpq 11

Typography Style

Adequate letter, line and paragraph spacing allows everyone (including those with even mild vision impairments) to identify the individual characters, words, and sentences.

As the UK's leading social mobility charity, we believe in fair and secure Futures For All.

We are dedicated to levelling the playing field for all young people from state schools and colleges by providing fully funded access to our Work Experience and Speakers for Schools programmes.

Our programmes demystify careers, build self-belief and open doors to opportunities that were previously closed.

Our programmes exist to ensure Futures For All.

Work Experience programme

We offer 3-5-day in-person and remote placements and 3-5-hour introductory Insight Days with 100s of prominent employers – to demystify careers, build skills and self-belief, get young people work ready, and open doors to opportunities that were previously closed.

Our high-quality and fully funded work experience programme is accessible to every 14-19-year-old from state schools and colleges anywhere across the country, and is designed to meet Gatsby Benchmarks 5 and 6, and use the Skills Builder Universal Framework.

Speakers for Schools programme

We offer both in-person and online inspirational and career talks to share life lessons, advice, and insights into a speaker's own career journey and their sector – which demystifies careers, builds self-belief, and helps 11-19-year-old state-educated students to imagine what they could be in the future and succeed.

Our fully funded inspirational talks feature a vast network of over 1,500 speakers – bringing together high-profile and influential professionals from the fields of business, politics, entertainment, sport and more.

Offer work experience to kickstart Futures For All.

We believe that employers have an essential role to play in improving access to high-quality work experience to help young people from state schools and colleges build self-belief, get a better understanding of the labour market and become work ready.

As the largest provider of in-person and remote placements in the UK with a network of over 2,700 educational institutions, working with our charity as a Social Mobility Partner ensures that more students from less privileged backgrounds experience the valuable benefits – as proven by our impact data – and that your business accesses the broadest pool of young talent, maximises its social impact and plays a vital role in diversifying and future-proofing the workforce nationwide.

We can promote and signpost your own work experience programme through our website, provide supported use of our state-of-the-art application portal to manage end-to-end recruitment onto placements, or host and support the facilitation of your opportunities.

Partner with us to nurture Futures For All.

We believe a secure and successful future should be determined by ability, not where you were born, went to school or the occupation of your parents, carers or guardians. That talent is everywhere right across this country, but opportunity is not.

As the UK's leading social mobility charity, we need the support of partners like you to provide fully funded access to our Work Experience and Speakers for Schools programmes – which level the playing field for all young people from state schools and colleges.

Alternative work experience focussed headline:

Support work experience to nurture Futures For All.

As the largest provider of in-person and remote placements in the UK with a network of over 2,700 educational institutions, working with our charity as a Social Mobility Partner ensures that more students from less privileged backgrounds open doors to opportunities with prominent employers – to demystify careers, build self-belief and get work ready.

In return those businesses gain access to the broadest pool of young talent, maximise their social impact and help to future-proof the workforce nationwide.
